"Reasonable doubt"

Westwinds is found not guilty

By Loren Christensen

The Westwinds Motel Inn was found not guilty of serving liquor to a minor in provincial court last week.

The hotel was charged after 17-year-old David Jonson was killed last October after leaving the hotel.

"I'm satisfied the defence has raised a reasonable doubt," Judge N. Maclean told the court room in handing down the decision.

Judge Maclean added there was "valid evidence before the court the lad had gone to the bar before" with his parents.

Donald Jonson, David's father, testified first at the trial. He told the court he was aware his son went to bars but didn't "accompany him."

The father also testified David "would have been 18 next month" on February 27.

"not asked for ID"

Lawrence Nelson, who was drinking with three others including David Jonson the night of accident, testified they were in the Westwinds Tavern for about "15 to 30 minutes" and had "one beer each" Nelson also told the court they had been at the Black Gold Inn earlier and consumed "12 pitchers of beer."

Nelson, under cross-examination, by defence lawyer Dave Cox, said "Mrs. Jonson" had joined them in the Black Gold for a drink earlier in the evening of the accident on October 15.

Nelson also told the court David Jonson didn't finish his one beer in the Westwinds and only had "a couple of swallows" before leaving for home.

Randy Schmidt, another member of the group with Jonson on the night he was killed, said they were not "asked for identification at the Westwinds."

The Crown also called

Sheena Frotten to the stand to testify. Frotten, a hairmaid at the Westwinds, served Jonson on October 15.

Frotten said the group was in the tavern for 15 to 20 minutes and she didn't ask any of them "for proof of age." Frotten also said she didn't ask any of them to leave because "she didn't have a chance to."

She said she was planning to ask them to leave because one member of the group, not Jonson, had had too much to drink.

When asked why she didn't question David Jonson on his age she replied, "He looked old enough, at least 25 or 26."

Under cross-examination by the defence lawyer Frotten said they are instructed "to ask if they don't look old enough or act immature."

In regards to taking Jonson for proof of age Frotten said she would do the same thing again if it happened tomorrow because she thought he was old enough.

Frotten added the hotel had a seminar with the RCMP two months before the incident regarding the rights and duties of the staff under the Liquor Control Act.

Defence lawyer Cox called three witnesses including Kevin Love, the assistant manager of the hotel at the time of the accident.

Love said they have a policy to "ask for ID if there is any question to a person's age. He added the waitresses and waiters "follow this to the best of their ability."

Under cross-examination by the Crown, prosecution Love said they didn't change their system after the accident because "they felt it was a good enough system."

The defence also called Shelly MacKinnon to testify, another hairmaid at the Westwinds.

MacKinnon testified she thought Jonson was "25 or 26" because he hung around with people "around that age."

Under cross-examination from the Crown she told the court she had seen Jonson in a licensed premises "more than four or five times" in the space of the two weeks before his death.

The final defence witness was Deborah Fletcher, who was working at the Black Gold on the night Jonson was killed.

Fletcher told the court she thought Jonson was 21. Under cross-examination she said the group Jonson had been with was in the Black Gold for about four hours on October 15.

"When he (David Jonson) got up to leave he fell back into the chair," Fletcher told the court.

Defence lawyer Cox summed up his case saying the Westwinds "took reasonable care" in not serving minors

County discards "unuseable" equipment

Decks and sinks discarded in the Lodgepole dump last week were beyond repair, according to a county official.

Dr. Jack Patterson said the county was removing the equipment to make room for more storage space. The space will be used to store industrial arts equipment from R.W. Pickup during renovations.

Patterson said the equipment was "considered unusable" and taken to the dump. About 40 damaged decks were removed from the storage area.

County employee Bill Davis, who was at Lodgepole when the decks were discarded, said they were "beyond use."

In addition to the decks several sinks were also dumped in the landfill near Lodgepole. Davis said the sinks were "cracked and rusted in" so nobody could use them.

Davis said they destroyed the sinks so no one "would take them home and not realizing they were unusable."

Although most of the decks were burnt, Davis said his crews did not start the fires.

"My guys took a load out and there was no fire. When they took another load, there was," Davis pointed out.

The remains of some of the burnt decks sit in the background of a damaged sink.

Two business studies underway locally

Some of our New Year's predictions appear to be becoming true.

Talk of a healthy economy, with lots of "things" on the drafting board, got a shot in the arm this week with word that at least two feasibility studies are underway by business very interested in coming to Drayton Valley.

One of these is a mall. Negotiations are underway with two anchor stores for this mall, one a large retailer and the other being a grocery store.

Another Calgary firm is currently looking at six locations in town and is in the middle of a feasibility study.

Add to this, two large apartment blocks and a 5,000-square-foot warehouse in Poplar Ridge.

According to one consultant, Drayton Valley is getting a lot of attention these days in the world of business.

New award

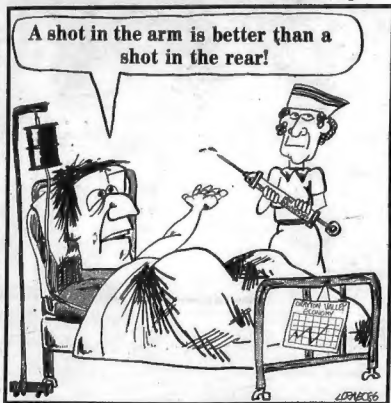

The Drayton Valley and District Chamber of Commerce plan to recognize citizens for their behind-the-scenes contributions to community life.

This week the chamber announced plans to honor a citizen of the year. Nominations will be accepted later in the year and the presentation will be made in January of '87.

Every group and organization has someone, or knows of someone, who has given a lot of their own time to make this a better place to live.

When the time comes, we'll be pushing for everyone to submit a name or two.

A "bouquet" to the chamber for taking this step.

Reader calls from New Mexico for paper

The Drayton Valley & District Chamber of Commerce announced plans this week (see story on Page B10) to honor a citizen of the year.

Hopefully, groups and organizations will put on their thinking caps later in the year, when nominations will be taken.

This is an excellent opportunity to single out an individual for their work in the community. I'm sure we all know of someone deserving of such an award.

The communities of Wildwood, Ennisville and Evansburg are playing host to the Yellowhead Winter Games this Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Events range from hockey and basketball to volleyball and arm wrestling. A complete schedule is in the paper this week for the con-variance of those residents who wish to attend.

A "bouquet" to these three communities and all the volunteers for putting on such an event.

Following on the heels of our full page feature on the video invasion last Wednesday, we understand Rex's Radio & TV, R.K. Radio & TV, Mohawc, Turbo, and (the list goes on) also handle videos.

It's obvious from all the outlets....that the general public has lots of selection.

It's nice to see the concession operating on a regular basis at the Drayton Valley curling rink. But, it will only do so if the curlers use the service.

As we understand it, there's nothing when their total sales is a cup of coffee.

Carl Mattoon, a former Drayton Valley resident, likes to get his Western Review on time.

Mattoon called last week to check up on a couple of back issues that apparently went missing during the Christmas rush.

He called from Hobbs, New Mexico. That's what you'd call a serious reader.

Sour gas well

Drilling to start next month near Cynthia

George Wilson, with Olland, tries on an air mask at the Lodepole open house.

by Lerne Christensen
BP Resources is ready.
The Calgary-based company hopes to begin drilling a sour gas well in mid-February near Cynthia.

Last week they held an open house at the Lodepole school to present their contingency plans to the local residents that could be affected by the well.

"We were happy with the turnout," said Ivan Marlow, BP's chief drilling engineer. Marlow said the aim of the seven-hour open house was to "inform."

He added they wanted people to "understand and at the same time we wanted input for the plan." Marlow estimated about 50 residents attended and many had suggestions for the plan.

The 3,000 meter well will be entering the same formation that the two previous sour gas blowouts were in, according to Rod Keller, a consultant with BP. The company plans to post a weekly drilling progress report in Lodepole and Cynthia. Keller said the progress report will become daily when the well reaches the last "10 days of drilling." It's expected to take about 50 days to complete the well.

"It's so people have an idea when we expect to hit the pressure zone," Keller explained.

Keller said they took the "worst case scenario" and built their emergency job control plan "around that."

"The plan itself is what the open house is about," Keller pointed out.

The plan includes three different "levels of emergency." The first level is when they encounter "day-to-day" drilling problems but still have the well under complete control. The second level is defined as the well still under control but problems like a "mechanical malfunction" may increase the danger of a blowout. The third and final level is when the well is out of control and gas is flowing.

BP has set down procedures for each level which include complete evacuation. If the well goes out of control, the plan includes both stationary and mobile air monitors, roadblock locations and criteria for "igniting the well."

"BP has put a lot of effort into it (safety)," according to Lee Whitaker, the manager of Canadian operations for Oiland. Oiland specializes in safety procedures and had representatives at the Lodepole open house.

Whitaker says Oiland will be at the well site "a week early to start training."

"There will be lots of dry runs. We'll make sure the rig personnel are completely trained, it will be second nature," Whitaker says.

"If there is a problem we have a pretty good chance to control it, if the job is prepared," he added.

New food regulations

Schools are concerned

New food regulations have the County of Parkland School Board concerned about accommodating hot lunch programs and school parties.

Changes to the Public Health Act and subsequent food regulations include that all premises where food is made available for consumption by the public must now meet an acceptable standard and be issued food permits if approved.

"The regulations call for food to be prepared on the premises, eliminating any home-prepared food."

At last week's school board meeting in Drayton Valley, Trustee Rianne Kukul said the regulations were "unrealistic" for communities and schools to have to follow.

"They were passed through legislation so fast that people didn't have a chance to react," she added.

The changes are part of an on-going process of ensuring the safety of food served to the public.

In the case of schools instituting hot lunch programs for students, this makes it necessary for all food preparation to be centralized within two kitchens, in addition to this, schools equipped with food preparation facilities have to be within the standard of food regulations.

Inspections of several county schools carrying out hot lunch programs have been conducted "and some modifications are required in Duffield, Meir, Lake, Whamton, Temah, Stey, Falo and Spruce Grove area schools."

The inspections have not yet been carried out in Drayton Valley schools.

Modifications required in 12 of the schools that have been visited include the addition of three compartments, sinks in about nine schools, cabinets over stoves and approximately nine schools and new ceiling tiles in two schools.

Kukul said the regulations will stop any Christmas, Halloween and Valentine parties.

"The support is really, really tremendous," said Eldorado principal Howard Pearson speaking to the County of Parkland School Board on Eldorado's parent program.

Pearson, along with school parent volunteer Lois Gilberstein were guest speakers at the school board's regular meeting held in Drayton Valley last week.

The Eldorado principal stated that at least 20 parents are working in the school every day assisting in class projects, cooking soup, tying shoes and in a number of other areas.

He pointed out that sometimes bringing in volunteers can create problems.

as well as bake sales.

"The impact is tremendous," she added.

Trustee Cecil Dawkins agreed, saying the list of changes make it "inconvenient" for schools to continue programs.

The board carried a motion to send letters to the Minister of Education and Welfare and the board of education outlining the "cost and inconvenience" the changes have on Parkland's school system.

Schools are able to continue food programs with their existing facilities until the end of the school year.

Principal is happy blends but, in Eldorado the benefits of parent involvement far outweigh the problems.

"It's really a positive thing," he added.

Gilberstein, a parent volunteer in local schools for more than nine years, said she "really enjoys" working in the schools.

"When you ask kids what they've learned in school they're happy to tell you," she said.

"If you ask kids what they've learned in school they're happy to tell you," she said.

"We're not in it for the money. We're in it for the love of it," she added.

Shell plant

Open for business

By Debbie Johnson
Serving the area for approximately a month, the new Drayton Valley Shell Plant plans to hold a grand opening ceremony "in the near future."

Plant manager Kirby Lucas said the operation received its first product Dec. 9 and opened for business Dec. 20.

"The plant relocated here from Estevan where it was in business for more than 15 years."

Selling and delivering fuel with a fleet of three tanker trucks are the plant's main daily operations. Shell also carries a full line of lubricants and oil products for industrial and agricultural needs.

"We make fuel deliveries east all the way to Breton and Alder, west to the ER River and north to Evansburg," explained Lucas.

"The new plant has been a Cardlock system now being implemented by the company across the country. Cardlock is a computerized management system allowing customers 24 hour service."

"It attracts the industrial drivers," said Lucas. The manager said he has no concerns about the safety of the plant.

"A hot plant will burn, but it will not explode. As long as current safety procedures are followed there should be no concern over safety," he stated.

With six years experience working in the oil industry, Lucas has been managing the Shell Plant for three years.

"Business hasn't been bad," he said. "We've incurred a relative increase in volume since moving here," he added.

Also employed at the plant are truck driver Bill Carahall and bookkeeper Bonnie Lucas.

Performing Arts class do dance numbers

A Performing Arts presentation brought in a full house of about 100 people at the Frank Maddock High School theatre last week.

The Performing Arts class of 18 students presented a combination of jazz and modern dance in five numbers.

Choreographed by instructor Brenda Prentice, the event opened with an "In the Mood" dance to the song "Dancing in the Street" by Mick Jagger and David Bowie. Next was a number titled "Liberation" to the song "Bleachers" by the Eurythmics and Aretha Franklin. The Marvin Gaye hit "Goodie" through the Grapevine" to a dance titled "Obsession" and "Alone" to the song "I never Dreamed You'd Leave in Summer" by Joan Baez were the next two numbers. The evening closed with "Let's Play Ball", a number that saw the dancers perform in baseball uniforms to the song "Centrefield" by John Fogerty.

The Grade 10 and 11 students started rehearsing the dances last October.

The line-up of dancers included Lisa Balderson, Kelly Bergquist, Flavia Bevans, Donna Brooks, Bonita Bryant, Tina Corrigan, Shelle Doucette, Joelle Glickert, Colleen Haggerty, Denise Hanson, Heather Jamieson, Jodi Lemka, Jody MacKenzie, Anita Matthews, Michelle Rioux, Patti Sweet, Shawna Watson and Joanne Winder.

Former student now school secretary

Once attending Drayton Valley's Eldorado Elementary School as a student, Berni Abendroth has recently returned as school secretary. A local resident for more than 20 years, Abendroth began working at the school last June.

"There's always something happening that's different at the school. You never do the same things every day," she said of her job. "It's regular office work with a twist to it," she added.

The children are what Abendroth stated she enjoyed most about working at the school.

"I really enjoy the kids and the fact that you get to know them," she explained. Also an Eldorado parent, Abendroth is the president of the school's parent association.

"The parent's association is really important to the school. It's our (parental) school that's why our kids are here," she said.

With about 15 years of secretarial experience, Abendroth said she "definitely" plans to stay with her position at the school.

"It's a perfect job for family life," she added.

Tom Sperling back at his desk.

Sperling returns home

By Debbie Johnson
After spending a year in a foreign country, teacher Tim Sperling has returned to his teaching at Frank Maddock High School.

Sperling lived and worked in Shepparton, Australia with his family as part of a two-country teacher exchange sponsored by Alberta Education.

"The important thing is people. We really made some good friends there," said Sperling. "Unfortunately I don't know if we'll see them again," he added.

The educator said his year spent in a foreign country was "very enjoyable". Australia as a place to live has a lot of potential. We really enjoyed the culture and travelling the countryside."

During his stay in Shepparton, Sperling taught in a technical school with a population of 750 Grade 7 to 12 students.

Students here are far more motivated. They see some sort of reason for education. They have goals and they have respect for the system," he commented.

Sperling found that students in the Shepparton school were not as respectful or as motivated.

"It's a technical school and not as academic. It was more like using a manual worker trying to keep the lid on things. I had to learn to lower my expectations," he said.

School facilities were another aspect Sperling said are "better" here than in Shepparton schools.

"It was a great year in Australia and in the school working with new colleagues. The highlight was the change, the opportunity to meet new people and learning to adapt. Too often we get too complacent. Being away allows you to focus and look at what you're doing. It gives you the opportunity to improve and do things differently," said Sperling.

He added that he hated to leave after it. "I could see it being a two-year exchange. It seems like it's been two months, not a year. It went too fast for me," he explained.

Sperling's wife Alvinia, also a teacher at Frank Maddock, taught physical education at the Shepparton school during part of the year.

Recreation

Archery

Sport is very popular in Drayton Valley

By Lerne Christensen
Thirty yards away there is an outline of a deer. The archer steadies his bow and releases the arrow.

A perfect hit. The arrow sticks into the target.

The Valley Arrows Archery club meets every Tuesday to hone their skills, shooting at everything from plain targets to cards to animal targets.

"It's mostly used as a tool for confidence in hunting," says club president Garry Swendsen.

The 16-member club shoots from the end of November to the end of March inside the H.W. Pickup gymnasium from 7 to 9 p.m.

George Matheson is one member of the club that has been there since it started in 1976. Matheson says the sport is "very popular" in Drayton Valley.

"Club is fun"

There's a lot of "low hunters" in Drayton Valley, Matheson says, estimating the group to be near 100 between Drayton and Drayton Valley.

"We try to promote training so people will know what they can do," Matheson says of the club.

"You don't have to be a good shot, we all started that way," he adds.

Swendsen says the club is "an inter-change of ideas."

The club also has access to a "roving archery range" in the summer but Swendsen says it's "tough drawing people in the summer time."

The outdoor range, near the North Saskatchewan River, "could be one of the best in the province" according to Matheson. "We can't get people out to work on it and develop it," he adds.

Roving archery is an "up and coming thing" where the archer shoots at targets and moves on to the next set, similar to a golf course.

In the summer they rove through the archery range and in the fall most of the club's members can be found roving the bush, low hunting.

Now hunting is a major concern of the club, both Matheson and Swendsen say.

"Hunting regulations don't benefit the archer," Swendsen says.

Matheson says they need an earlier season than the rifle hunters for several reasons. The reasons include the animals getting "spooked" once the rifle season starts making it almost impossible for an archer to get within the 20 yards of an animal to shoot it.

But hunting isn't the only concern of the club.

"Our big thing is this club is fun," says Matheson.

He urges anyone interested to come out and try it out to see if they like the sport.

"Everybody's welcome," says Swendsen.

Matheson said they hope people will "come out and look and ask questions." "We can advise people on equipment," he adds.

Anyone interested in joining the club contact Garry Swendsen at 543-3978 or George Matheson at 543-3471. Memberships cost $20.

Amazons drop thriller

It was a "super game" for the Amazons.

That's how coach Lynette Tait described her club's 42-39 loss against Edson at a weekend tournament in St. Albert.

Tait said the team played really well. Heather Heel led the team in the game with 15 points while Whitney Barker netted 11. Earlier, the team lost 45-25 to Leduc. Tait attributed the first tournament loss to tiredness.

The previous night the Amazons dumped Breton 51-44 in an exhibition match. Charmaine Gilbertson led with 17 points.

Two weeks ago the team won the B side of a tournament in Barrhead.

Wayne Young deftly tries to go around Scott Trifunenko off of the Warriors.

Warriors lose out

With four games in less than 24 hours the Warriors "ran out of gas."

The local high school boys' basketball team lost 45-43 to Devon in a consolation final at a tournament in St. Albert on the weekend.

Dwain Hausberg had 15 points with Chad Anker and Rick Haas each shooting eight points.

Earlier in the day the Warriors dumped Barrhead 65-49 as Hausberg collected 18 points and Dennis Anderson netted 13 points. The first game of the tournament on Saturday morning saw the Warriors lose 53-45 to Spruce Grove. Hausberg had 14 points with Haas collecting nine.

Coach Barry Swap said he was disappointed in the team's play in the first game against Spruce Grove. Swap added the team was "tired and sore" heading into the third match against Devon.

The previous night, Friday, the Warriors had lost a close exhibition game 91-59 in overtime to Breton. Dennis Anderson had 22 points with Rick Haas collecting 21 points in that game. Wayne Young, of Breton, was the top scorer with 35 points.

The lunch-hour meeting was held at the Park Valley Pool to determine the interest in forming a master club locally.

To be eligible for the club you have to be over 18 and be able to swim two lengths of the pool.

The club hit the pool this week for their first workout.

Tentative times for the workouts are Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9 to 10 p.m.

The club hopes to offer a program for fitness, stroke development and weight control.

Tiggar's hope to repeat as the champions

A member of the RCMP's team tries to block a Tiggar shot.

It's going to be a "tough road" for the Drayton Valley Tiggar.

They will be trying to defend the provincial intermediate ladies' C basketball title when the provincials roll around in March.

Coach Gerald Dusterhoft says he is "optimistic" about the team's chances of repeating as provincial champions.

"We're missing a couple of important people to the club," Dusterhoft explained.

The team has seven returning players from the team that scored a 59-58 decision over Kennedy Oilfield from Calgary in the finals held in Stettin.

The Tiggar, who lost out in the ladies' final the year before winning the provincial crown, will also be bidding to host the provincial tournament at the end of March.

"We'll make an attempt at it. We also did last year," Dusterhoft pointed out.

But for now he is concerned with the team preparing themselves for the provincial title.

"The competition is tough. We had a good club last year and got blown out in the first game," he added.

The disadvantage the team will have is lack of play time compared to their other provincial challengers.

"The competition is tough in the ladies, all the ladies teams we play are involved in a league," Dusterhoft said.

But he hopes his team can play as many exhibition games as possible and also go to several tournaments.

Tony Lenzini on his Arctic Cat sled in Drayton Valley.

Lenzini trying for world record

Tony Lenzini has a long way to go. The snowmobiler from Duluth, Minnesota, passed through the area last week on his way to Alaska and then back to Minnesota.

With 1,748 miles clocked on his 1980 Arctic Cat Cougar Lenzini is less than a quarter of the way on his journey. When he finishes he will have travelled over 10,000 miles and set a new world record.

Lenzini joked it will take him "the rest of his life" to finish the trip if the snow conditions remain the same. The camera repairman hasn't seen much snow since he crossed the border.

The marathon trip which is raising money for the "March of Dimes" is the second long trip Lenzini has done. He previously held the world record with a similar trip in 1980.

So far, Lenzini has gone through only two sleds so his snowmobile since leaving Duluth December 28.

"I've been praying for snow for two weeks," he said. "It's taken him two weeks to travel the last 900 miles."

Minor hockey week

Edmonton Oiler at the ceremony

Ceremonies for Drayton Valley's Minor Hockey Week were held at the arena last Sunday.

The theme for this year's Minor Week is "Don't send your child to the arena, watch him play".

More than 290 players between the ages of five to 17, including four girls, are enrolled in minor hockey this year. This is up about 40 from last year.

There will be a total of 21 teams participating with 22 games being played throughout the week from Jan. 19 to Jan. 25.

Edmonton Oiler Dave Hunter was on hand at the opening and wished everyone a "great" week. Counsellor Claire Carefoot represented the town.

All players were presented with root beer tickets donated by the A&W and other packs courtesy of Green T Texaco.

The players from each team who raised the most money for minor hockey's skate-a-noon last fall was also presented with a Minor Hockey Association jacket.

The Treasury Branch is donating game star medallions and most sportsman-like trophies are being provided by the A&W.

Raffle tickets for one coach and three players to attend an Oilers game were donated by III West Weld Service. There is also a raffle for a trip for two to Las Vegas. Draws will be held at the arena on Jan. 25.

Lamplighters miss the playoffs

The Drayton Valley Lamplighters came away with two wins and a loss from a weekend tournament in Victoria.

Manager gets in

The equipment manager of the Barhead Elks was allowed in the arena last Friday.

Earlier, he had been banned from the building by the town after an altercation at a recent Barhead/Blades contest.

Revelation director Calvin Bennefield said the town talked to the league commissioner about the ban. A scheduling mix-up allowed the equipment manager into the facility.

Bennefield said the town was unaware of the game when they wrote the letter banning the manager, so the date of the game was not included in the letter.

Bennefield added the "point has been made" with the ban that the town has the authority to use such actions.

"We'll let him come in but if there are problems we'll come down heavy," Bennefield said.

of 88 teams competing in the annual event.

The Lamplighters started the tournament off with an 8-5 win over the Red Deer Riveriders. Dave Newbury led the way with three goals while Herb Rehr, Dan Hanson, Bob Stunberg, Bill Hays and Dennis McTurk each got singles.

The Lamplighters then look on the Pacific Coast Road

Wings, a team from Vancouver. Dan Hanson had two goals. Drayton Valley won 5-3. Other Lamplighter goals came from Billy Hutchinson, Al Dunbar and Bill Hays.

The Lamplighters were knocked out of the tournament with a 5-3 loss to Campbell River. Herb Rehr, Dan Hays, McTurk and Bill Hays each got one goal.

Dawkins nominated in county for program

School board trustee Cecil Dawkins of Drayton Valley was nominated by the County of Parkland School Board to compete for participation in an interprovincial program to be held between Alberta and Ontario in April and May.

The program's theme in Ontario is "Education in a Multicultural Community." Sixteen people will be chosen from Alberta's schools system to take part in the event. Those selected will be notified of their selection by Feb. 1st.

The purpose of the program is to "highlight the differences and understand similarities between the two provinces, and through seminars and field visits, to study programs to meet those needs."

"I have had a particular interest in this (multicultural education) for many years," said Dawkins.

Selected Alberta trustees and administrators are to visit Ontario from April 30 to May 8th.

Duffield man is killed

A 53-year-old Duffield man was killed in a truck accident southwest of Lodgepole last Saturday night.

According to the Drayton Valley RCMP, Gordon Donald Hansen of Duffield died after his 76 Ford pickup was involved in a head-on collision with a 79 Kenworth driven by James William Brown of Rocky Mountain House. The accident, at 6 p.m., took place 30 kilometres southwest of Lodgepole on the 528 River road.

No charges are anticipated by the RCMP. The investigation continues.

Meanwhile, the RCMP are investigating a weekend break-in at the Beehive Hotel. Depot, some cash and a number of Famous Player theatre tickets were taken.

A 17-year-old female was arrested last Friday and has been charged with possession of a stolen credit card.

ing 59-56, then winning 68-52

At the Devon JV games meet the Cougars lost their first game in Devon but beat Leduc 58-46 and Spruce Grove 60-50 to take third place in the tourney. New Serepta then came to Breton but because of some slow play on the Cougars' part and an improved New Serepta team, Breton lost 62-75.

Winfield travelled to Breton where the Cougars trounced them 84-38. The big test for the Cougars came when they met a fired up JV squad in Rimby Jan. 15. A dismal slow start put the Cougars 14 points behind at the half. The come back almost happened, but the Cougars lost 59-56. High scores for the Cougars were Wayne Young 21, Darrin Petrie 16 and Lyle Redland 13.

The girls' Cougars also travelled to Rimby for the first game of the season. Despite the serious lack of experience, the Cougars pulled a 38-19 victory. High scores were Debra Nelson 11 and rookie Tina Shapiro 10.

Coach Laurie Petrows believes if both teams keep improving as they have been, they should do very well in

Block's Store

"The store with all the bargains in town"

DERRICK MALL 542-5625 DRAYTON VALLEY 542-2919

We have the right to limit quantities

Community store carries "a little bit of everything"

By Debby Johnson

Approximately eight kilometres south of Drayton Valley stands a small country store with a history of almost 60 years.

The Violet Grove General Store has been serving the community since about 1940.

"It's an old, old place," commented Beth Oulton whose family owns the store.

Although it carries "just about a little bit of everything" Oulton says the business' biggest attraction is a horseshoe-shaped lunch counter located at the front of the building.

The Oultons added the lunch counter when they purchased the store.

"It's worked out really nice. A lot of nice people stop here and we have a fantastic time with super customers," said Oulton.

According to Oulton the mornings are usually the counter's busiest time of day with a 7 a.m. rush of people dropping in for coffee and toast on their way to work.

"We have rushes at lunch time too," said Oulton. "It depends on where they're from."

The store caters to men serving mainly truck drivers and oilfield workers.

With a selection including sandwiches, soup, chili, coffee, toast and baked goods, the lunch counter's menu isn't big but, it's popular. Oulton estimated a preparation of 100 sandwiches a day.

The store's merchandise includes groceries, work clothing, foot wear, health care products and sporting goods.

Natives to Violet Grove, the Oulton family also lived in the Leduc area for 10 years. They returned to Violet Grove eight years ago and purchased the general store where they built their home attached to the back of the store.

"We like it here and plan to be here for a while," said Oulton.

Grain market adjustment plan reaches farmers

If you have applied for the Alberta Food Grain Market Adjustment Program (AFGMAP) you should be receiving a very large envelope in the mail. To make things more exciting, it will be jammed full of official looking forms for you to fill out.

This is that "31 percent of grain fed" program, and there is some confusion about these new forms. In truth, they are not as bad as they look.

When you registered (you are registered, aren't you?), the forms you filled out were an estimate of your winter feeding. Note the word estimate. It is important.

The estimate of grain fed over the winter was needed specifically to estimate your need for the certificate option of the program. The form fed option of the program is simpler for the farmer, so if you don't need certificates you're a bit ahead.

The new forms, even though they look ferocious, are required to actually set the amount of money you are entitled to. Remember, the original forms were estimates of what you planned several months in advance. These new forms are the actual statement of what you really did feed over the past quarter, or in this case between Sept. 1/85 and Dec. 31/85.

Another thing, you will get more forms for each type of livestock you put on your application. You probably won't need each form, but it's better to send an extra form than not enough.

You have the option of filling out forms at the end of any quarter. That's after Dec. 31, 1985, March 31, 1986 or June 30, 1986 until the end of the program. You can carry a quarter ahead if you wish, and not claim for the September to December period until the end of March when you can claim for all of September to March.

There are two limitations to keep in mind. First, when you claim for a given quarter you must claim for all eligible animals in that quarter. For example, if you have bred cows and show horses, you have to claim for both of them. You can't claim for cows and hold the horses over to the next quarter.

The second limitation is the categories for feeder animals and dairy animals. These animals are claimed only in the months they are sold, or their products is sold. One example here is a feeder steer, sold as a background on Sept. 5, 1985. Because it was sold in the current quarter, we can claim for it. If it was sold Jan. 6, 1986 we would claim for it on the January to March forms.

Another quirk of feeder and dairy animals is the period over which they can consume grain. Our example steer, sold on Sept. 5, 1985 is eligible for all the grain he ate since he was on feed, even though he may have gone on feed in June. Similarly, a dairy cow milking in the same quarter can claim feed grain back to when she went on grain for that lactation.

As nice as this quirk may seem there is a price for it that affects feeder livestock. When the program ends, it ends! Even though you may feed a steer through the entire period, if it is sold after the end of the program you won't be paid for the feed grain it ate. Program dates are final, so you may have to modify your marketing plan if it is important to you.

When filling out the forms, you'll need to know what an "animal day on feed" is. It is explained right on the forms, but I'll try my own description here for good measure. An animal day is one animal of whatever type we are working with being on feed for one day. Ten cows on feed for 37 days is 370 animal days. If you have more than one group of animals, calculate animal days separately and then add them up.

For example, 10 cows fed for 37 days is 370 animal days. Another 15 cows for 10 days is 150 animal days. A third group of 40 cows fed for 100 days is another 4000 animal days. The total animal days will be 570 plus 150 plus 4000 or 4620 animal days.

As I said, the forms are not as bad as they look. If you do need assistance, just give us a call and we'll be glad to help.

Pioneer of district passes away at age 96

A pioneer of this district, Philip Wennerstrom, died Dec. 20 at the age of 96. He was born in Jarabos, Sweden April 21, 1889 and at the age of 20 he immigrated to Canada, landing first in Winnipeg, Man., then to Estevan, Sask. He worked at grain elevators and construction throughout Saskatchewan, then moved to Drayton, where he worked on construction of the Grand Trunk and Peace River railways. He met and married Olga Erickson there in 1913.

The couple took up residence on a homestead in the Alder Plate area in 1921 where they raised a large family of 10 children.

Philip and Olga left their homestead in the 70s to live at the West Pine Lodge at Winfield, where they nearly 87 years of marriage ended with the death of Olga June 6, 1980. His last years were spent in the Rimbye Aus iliary Hospital until his death. He is survived by Arnold and Vera Wennerstrom, of North Burnaby, B.C.; Eric and Mary Wennerstrom and Dick Wennerstrom, of Calgary; Bob and Cecile Wennerstrom, of Alder Plate; Doris and Melvin Jones of Winfield; Margaret Haure Heler and James Lagdighan, Irene Sabul and Carol and Tom Linn, all of Edmonton; 24 grandchildren and one great grandchild. He was predeceased by his daughter Marie in 1942.

Services were conducted by Rev. Michael Thompson at the Bakers Funeral Chapel. Wetaskiwin on Jan. 4 at 1 p.m. with interment at the Maywood Cemetery. Organist was Diana Andor. Pallbearers were grandsons Darrell, John and Bradley Wennerstrom, Dean Seibel and Jeffrey Peterson. Bakers Funeral Chapel of the 28th

Wetaskiwin was in charge of arrangements.

Sympathy is extended to all the families. Maroon Hall and Tami Sargent of Lacombe spent Christmas day at the home of Dale and Jean Sargent. On Boxing day the Sargents were at his parents' home in Mirror with all the families present. The special occasion was to visit with Aunt Marguerite who is a missionary in Japan and was home on leave. She will be returning to Japan in April for another six year term. Albert and Ivy Kellgren spent Christmas day at their son Arnold's home in Strathmore and on the 28th at son Veig's at Beaumont. Lars and Doris Larson and Rose, Mary and family spent Christmas day with Gordon and Karro Shulsky in Edmonton. Grandma Larsson also there.

It's nice to hear Kathleen Kles a house from her stay in the Rimbye hospital and we wish her a speedy recovery.

Steve Steffens is also home after spending a few days in the Drayton hospital.

There were four tables at the card game Jan. 8 with Minnie Oberg capturing women's high and Mary Richard low. Alex Danyluk had high score for men and Louis Throver was low. The next game will be Jan. 22.

The round robin curling is now in full swing.

By Winde Hamerill
Nine members met at the parish hall of All Saints Anglican Church to hold the January ACW meeting.

After prayers, Marian Palmer, education secretary, read an article on how the Christian form of worship follows the form of worship used in the Jewish synagogue. Service is composed of two readings from the scriptures, recitation of psalms, prayers and sermons much the same as the Christian service.

A school for mentally handicapped children, sponsored by Christian Blind Mission International, is situated in St. Vincent, Haiti. Our church has sent more than 500 pairs of eyeglasses to Blind International.

The present executive agreed to hold office for another year with Hi Dahl, president, Peggy Tyler, secretary, and Miriam Roberts, treasurer.

The catering committee is made up of Betty Stirling, Ethel Britton, Ethel Thompson and Peggy Tyler. A number of young people in the church are getting married in 1986. The ACW always volunteers to cater for the weddings of church members.

The annual pancake supper will be held in the parish hall Feb. 11. The public is invited.

The big catering of the year is the fall turkey supper and bazaar. This supper was first held in 1920 and has continued annually every since.

This year was very successful. From the proceeds, a large amount was given to the church vestry, to renovate the Rector's office.

Also, with monies from this event many dollars, with a maximum of $100, was given to the following: Ushill Boys' School, St. Johns Procy, Win House in Edmonton, Sarreata Anglican Centre, St. Primate's World Relief, Emmanuel and St. Chad's College, Prayer Partners and St. Anthony's. Bibles and song books will be bought for the local church.

In December, five children were baptised. Dustin Douglas and Karen Dean Armstrong, Julie Marie and Scott Andrew Smith and Lane Whylie Stanton Rev John Privett officiated.

The church birthday party is Sunday, Jan. 28.

On Sunday, Feb. 2 the ACW will take the church service which will be followed by the annual meeting.

The year of our 50th anniversary has been changed to 1987. Although church services were held in homes and in the Mission House in the early days, the present church was dedicated in Oct. 1937.

If anyone is interested in the history of Drayton Valley, a book compiled by Mary Burrows and entitled "Memories of the Mission" is for sale by the church.

"Varied response" to government programs locally

According to the area's employment counsellor there has been a "varied response" to government programs in the Drayton Valley area.

"Response to programs has been a little sporadic," said Laurie Epstein. "It's hard to provide the kind of service that everybody would like to be provided with," he added.

Epstein is available at the local Canada Employment Centre every second Tuesday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

"There's a lot of potential for assistance and given my working situation here it's a question of people in-Drayton Valley being aware of what's available. Probably the key is public awareness. It's happening slowly but, it's there," he explained.

Epstein said the "most important" government employment program now in effect is the Canadian Job Strategy introduced last September. It includes wage subsidy programs.

"It has advantages to almost anyone. There is a fair amount of potential and there is criteria. People should be aware of the fact that they can go out and market themselves for a job," he added.

Epstein stated that sit-information also can create problems.

"It can be a problem for anyone to sit down and read page, after page, after page and understand it. It's discouraging but, the bottom line is that it's worthwhile. The potential is fairly unlimited," he said.

"I hope for the best but, if I help a few people a day that's terrific. You can't please everyone," added Epstein.

Red Cross

Donor clinic

The Red Cross is holding a blood donor clinic at the Legion Hall from 8 to 8:30 p.m. today.

Drayton Valley's volunteer clinic co-ordinator Hy Dahl, said anticipating from past clinics a minimum of 175 people are expected to donate blood.

"We would like to have more," she added.

Red Cross staff draw the blood samples and local volunteers help with the registering, recording and rest beds.

The entire blood donating process takes about a half hour.

Almost anyone between the ages of 17 and 55 with identification and in good health can donate.

People who cannot donate blood include anyone who is pregnant or was in the last six months, anyone who has had major surgery in the last six months or minor surgery in the last three months and people who have contracted infectious hepatitis at any time.

Also those afflicted with diabetes, cancer, tuberculosis, epilepsy, high blood pressure, rheumatic fever and kidney or heart disease cannot donate.

Dahl said people should eat before they give blood so their blood sugar is at a high level allowing less chance of fainting due to blood volume loss.

According to Dahl, slightly less than a pint of blood is donated per person. This is about six per cent of the average adult's total blood volume.

The Red Cross is now checking all blood donations for AIDS and other deficiencies.

Donors receive a blood type card.

Royal Purple volunteers will be providing coffee and doughnuts.

The next clinic in Drayton Valley will be held April 30.

Kinsmen

Dream vacation

Just about now would be a good time to think of making a break for warmer lands - before cabin fever sets in. A trip to Mexico would be nice or perhaps a week in Palm Springs.

Either one of these trips could be free thanks to a Whitecourt lottery that's started up - as long as you have a spare $100 to pay for the ticket.

That's the amount it will cost you to get in the running for 12 draws for 12 separate vacations in the Kinsmen's Dream Vacation Lottery.

"We've never operated a lottery before," said project chairman Boris Makowicki. "We got the idea from a Lions club and they were successful...and we decided to try it."

The Kinsmen hope to sell all 300 tickets that could see winners receive free accommodation and air fare to spots such as Hawaii, Reno or San Francisco or even Vancouver or Vancouver Island. If they sell all of them, the $30,000 raised will go towards supporting construction of the planned community hall addition to Whitecourt Central School. The Kinsmen are supporting the lion's share of this project.

Landfill used

Area residents appear to be making better use of the new transfer station landfill stations. A check last week showed that both the dumpsters at Eastford and Buckley Rapids were almost full. The Drayton Valley Regional Sanitary Landfill Authority wish to remind residents that the transfer stations are to be used for household garbage, with the larger items to be taken to the site in Drayton Valley. There's no charge to dump at any of the sites.
